

An aerial photograph of a tropical island, likely St. Lucia, featuring a prominent, forested mountain peak in the center. To the right, a bay with clear blue water and a white sandy beach is visible. In the foreground, a golf course with several green fairways and a clubhouse is nestled in a valley. The sky is bright blue with scattered white clouds.

new heights

With newly relaxed wedding requirements, an array of capable planners and some of the most varied and breathtaking backdrops in the Caribbean, St. Lucia can help brides take their big event to the next level.

by natalia de cuba romero

